DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless —

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3-6, 20, 23 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Buzak ('744).

Buzak discloses an optical path length adjuster (50) for varying an optical path length between an input optical path (from element 54) and an output optical path (reference numeral 24) comprising a plurality of first optical elements (34a, 34b) and second optical elements (62a, 62b, 62c) arranged in alternating sequence along an optical path, each first optical element for controlling a polarization state of a light beam passing through that element and each second optical element for selectively transmitting or reflecting a light beam incident on that element depending on the selected polarization state of the incident light beam, wherein the optical path length traversed by an input beam on the optical path can be varied by selecting a particular second optical element at which reflection of the input beam is to occur, the reflected input beam emerging along the output optical path (see figures 3 and 4), wherein the adjuster is capable of obtaining a plurality of different spacings or thicknesses between the first and second optical elements based on the optical path lengths required along the optical path by selecting the depth plane of the object one desires, wherein the spacing/thickness is different between different adjacent pairs of first and second elements (i.e., wherein the spacing/thickness between elements 34a and 62a is different than the spacing/thickness between elements 34a and 64b or wherein the spacing/thickness between elements 34a and 62a is different than the spacing/thickness between elements 34b and 64b), wherein the spacings between adjacent first and second optical elements are occupied by spacing media (air, nematic liquid crystal material (106) having different refractive indices, the glass substrates (108)), wherein the spacing between sequential second optical elements determines the possible optical path lengths along the optical path via control 22 and wherein the optical path length is dependent on at least the number of second optical elements which transmit the beam and the spacing therebetween. Note figures 1-7B along with the associated description thereof.

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
